CATALOGUE 2017

"mooni was born in Höllviken, a small and lively town located on the sand dunes in the very south of Sweden. It is known as a summer paradise because of its long sand beaches and warm, endless summer days.

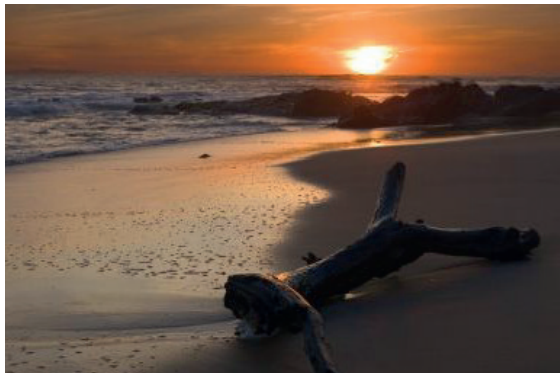

Winters are not as forgiving with a sun that sets early and rises late. During these never-ending winter nights you can see welcoming lights appear in the windows and gardens of local residents.

This pearl of a town inspired the team behind mooni to develop a range of products based on the Scandinavian design tradition that combines form, function and playfulness.

Drawing on the teams vast experience in areas ranging from design, marketing and sales, to engineering, production and logistics; we have created a modern and lean structure based on respect and taking responsibility.

We are passionate and we love what we do. We work hard together and we enjoy life together with our friends and family all around the world."

Staffan Bern, President and Founder

TECHNOLOGY

WIREFREE INDOOR

No screws, no tools and no visible wires. Wirefree is a mooni patented technology which can transfer 5 watts of power through any kind of non-metallic material. It is possible to charge the product up to a distance of 10 cm. However, up to 5 cm is recommended for optimal performance.

It is extremely easy to install and this great technology helps you get rid of all your visible ugly cables. Place the wirefree plate underneath your table, inside a drawer or behind a cabinet and connect the plate to a plug.

It works great for powering direct light or charging your speakers and lanterns.

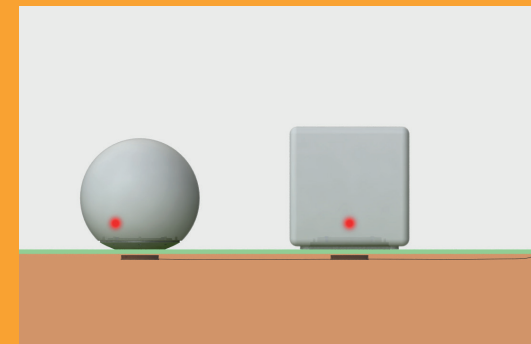

NEW: WIREFREE OUTDOOR

mooni has also created a wirefree plate, cable and plug that has been certified for outdoor use. You can now enjoy your outdoor lights without visible cables.

To install your wirefree light you can dig the wirefree plate into the ground and form a network of up to four plates to charge your outdoor mooni products. This means you don't have to charge your products inside your house or disrupt your garden with visible cables.

TECHNOLOGY

NEW: REMOTES

Many of mooni's products have several settings, such as brightness, different colors and programmed light displays. We have designed and developed our new patented remotes to be slim and functional, all in accordance with Scandinavian design tradition.

The remotes can be paired with all Bluetooth speakers and many of our lanterns and are included with all products that require a remote control.

NEW: QI CHARGING

Qi charging has since this summer become the standard for charging portable devices such as smartphones, tablets and other electronic products.

A mooni outdoor wirefree plate can easily be fitted with a Qi transmitter which can power all your devices that are prepared for this charging method, all completely wireless. Just place your phone or device on the plate and it will start to charge immediately. Note that this charging requires direct contact between the plate and the device.
